

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to recommend to you Tadeusy (Tad) Wysocki and his firm RootsPoland.com for genealogy research in Poland.

Like most families trying to research their family heritage in Poland, we had little information to go on. It was only after I came into possession of some old family letters and post cards, from a cousin, did we have any luck. I took those letters and post cards that were written in Polish and e-mailed them to Tad. From the letters and post cards he was able to obtain addresses and family names. Fortunately for us, one family member still lived at the same address after 45 years.

Tad is an amazing person! Without him we never would have been able to locate our family in Poland. He made several phone calls on our behalf before someone returned his calls. He made all the arrangements for us to meet our family in Piszczac, Poland. He picked us up at the airport in Warsaw and drove us to Piszczac to meet our relatives. At the airport he greeted us with flowers. The giving of flowers is a Polish tradition. He also stocked his van with snacks and drinks for the long drive before meeting family. All the lodging and hotel arrangements were also made by Tad. He thought of everything! Tad accompanied my family, which consisted of five people, every step of the way. He is a delightful travel companion.

I was so impressed with Tad's professionalism, his knowledge of history, his fluency in speaking English, love for genealogy and most importantly his passion in bringing families together. Tad was a part of our family while we were discovering the beloved homeland of my grandfather and meeting for the first time our relatives in Poland. Tad was a part of the family then and will always be apart of the Andrzejewski family.

My family can not express enough gratitude to Tad for reuniting us with our family in Poland. To re-establish contact between family in America with family in Poland after 45 years is AMAZING. It is very difficult to express the emotions one feels when the past, present, and future all come together.

Sincerely,
